CITY HAS CHANCE TO BUY RIVERSIDE PARK FOR $25,000
CITY PLANNERS RECOMMEND PURCHASE OF 130 ACRES.

ACTION DEFERRED

Council Chooses to Consider Matter Two Weeks—Lighting Plan Also Laid Over.

Purchase by the city of the beautiful Riverside park tract along the west bank of Rock river just north of the city was recommended to the council Monday night, by the city plan commission, following a special meeting late Monday afternoon in which an offer was received for sale at $25,000. The original selling price was $10,000, but by standing fast for $25,000, the commission finally succeeded in getting a reduction to its own figure.

Coming before the council as a surprise, it was voted to lay the matter over two weeks for consideration. The proposal is for the city to pay $15,000 from its permanent park fund, before Jan. 1, 1923, $5,000 in 1924 and $5,000 in 1925.

The Riverside park tract includes approximately 140 acres with nearly one and one-half miles of river frontage according to City Engineer C. V. Koch. It extends north to a point nearly opposite Crystal Springs and is considered the most ideal property available for a city park.

To Investigate Claim

A claim was read from Mrs. Mary Henderdon for $5,000 from the city for injuries to her right knee-cap suffered in a fall on an East Milwaukee street sidewalk and upon motion of Ald. Glenn L. Gardner, action was deferred two weeks. In the meantime a committee composed of the chairman of the council finance and judiciary committees and City Attorney Robert G. Cunningham will meet with Mrs. Henderdon's attorney, T. S. Nolan, to see what settlement, if any, can be made.

BABY IS HELD AS HOSTAGE FOR DEBT BY GRANDPARENTS

Chicago — Their tearful pleas and angry demands alike refused, Walter and Evelyn Glowe of Chicago Heights Monday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in superior court to force the return of their four-month-old baby, Fern Glowe, from Mrs. Glowe's father, Frank Koy of Thornton.

Koy, ordered by Judge Joseph Sabbath to produce the child in court Tuesday, is alleged to be holding the baby as a hostage, pending the payment of expenses advanced by him at the time of the child's birth.

Immediately after the birth of the baby, Mrs. Glowe was invited to spend the night at the home of Koy, who admits that the grandfather supplied the funds for hospital doctor bills and the infant's clothes.

For two months Mrs. Glowe asserts she visited and recuperated as a "guest" but when she attempted to return to Chicago Heights Koy is alleged to have torn the baby from her arms and demanded every cent he had advanced.

Kemalists Expel French Consuls; Call for Troops

(By Associated Press.)

Constantinople — The French consuls at Mersina and Adana in Asia Minor have been expelled by the Kemalists. They arrived here Monday. They were appointed under the Bouillon treaty to insure protection of Christian minorities. The French consul at Brusa was expelled a week ago; but another consular official is returning to that city, accompanied by a Turkish nationalist officer, to superintend the removal of 30 French residents. From Kharput come reports that the Kemalists are calling all men liable to military service and sending them to Mosul.

ALLIED PREMIER WILL HAVE PRELIMINARY MEET

London — The troublesome question of how a meeting of the allies could be arranged before the London peace conference, to outline the allied program, as Great Britain has insisted, has been solved as a result of an exchange of messages by the chancellors at Paris, Rome and London.

Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, has arranged to see Premier Poincaré in Paris on the way to Rome, probably Thursday, and the conversation will be continued on the train. Premier Mussolini has arranged to leave Rome for Lausanne Friday and join his colleagues.

Conferences Customary.

Reports from Geneva that the Turks would refuse to enter the Lausanne conference if the allies made any preliminary agreements evoked the statement in official circles that little importance was attached to this. It was pointed out it was customary for the allies to have preliminary conferences under similar circumstances, and there was ground on which the Turks could protest.

Situation Is Easier.

Official messages from Constantinople indicated the situation there was somewhat easier. The opinion is expressed in official quarters that, in view of the easing of the tension, the allied representatives at Constantinople have considered it unnecessary for the present to proclaim a state of siege. A news agency dispatch from Constantinople, dated Monday, says the allies have handed Podestà over to the nationalists and that Adrianople would be turned over next Sunday.

MAD AX WIELDER STILL AT LARGE

Fail to Find Trace of Assailant — No New Attacks Reported.

Mystery of the ax-man assaults upon passing automobiles in the vicinity of Albany a week ago last Friday remains unsolved despite the efforts of Chief of Police Fred Gilman and other authorities. Many reports regarding the activities of domineering persons have been run down without resulting in an arrest or any definite clue.

Wild rumors that a man had confessed to the deed were found to be without foundation.

Persons living in the neighborhood where the cars were smashed by blows either from an axe or a heavy club are locking their doors at night, although no further reports of operations of the man's actions have been reported.

GREAT BRITAIN GOES TO POLLS WEDNESDAY

(By Associated Press.)

London — The last words in Great Britain's election campaign will be spoken Tuesday. The electorate will go to the polls Wednesday and pick a parliament from the 1,380 constituencies, seeking seats in the house of commons.

In 373 constituencies the fight will be a duel between candidates of two parties. In 242 other constituencies the battle is complicated by the presence of three or more contestants.

Even the wistful political stars are uncertain as to what the general result will be.

TRIAL IN HANSONED

BIG ISSUES BEFORE COUNTY BOARD IN AUTUMN SESSION

SUPERVISORS PAY THEIR RESPECTS TO SIMON SMITH, VETERAN.

CONSIDER BUDGET

Assessment Equalization, Highway 20 Relocation and Sanatorium Proposal Up.

Members of the Rock county board met Tuesday afternoon at the regular fall meeting to consider a number of important county issues.

Featuring the meeting was the respects paid to the grand old man of the board, Simon Smith. Beloit, who spent his 83rd birthday transacting county business. He is the oldest county supervisor in Wisconsin, and regards continuous service having been on the county board here since his election in 1887. His name is written deep in the annals of Rock county, having been chairman of the board for three and a half years and a representative of the county in the Wisconsin legislature for three terms, 1907-10 and 1911.

No supervisor has worked more for the interests of Rock county or expresses more pride in the county.

Pending Business.

Regardless of district leagues and combinations, county legislation, Supervisor Simon Smith votes as he sees fit, real independent with a vision of constructive legislation for the entire county as a unit.

Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, has arranged to see Premier Poincaré in Paris on the way to Rome, probably Thursday, and the conversation will be continued on the train. Premier Mussolini has arranged to leave Rome for Lausanne Friday and join his colleagues.

Priest Aids Farmers in Social Programs

Watertown—About 12 miles from here is a little rural community that is "up and coming."

Under the guidance of Father W. Mahoney, the parishes are having such good times that their city friends are joining them in social gatherings.

Every Friday night the farmers and their wives get together in the "social center" at the church. The young people of the community have their regular dances in the church basement, personally chaperoned by Father Mahoney.

"We must look after and take care of our rural communities," says Father Mahoney. "It is our duty as rural pastors to strive to win over the youth of the country. There is something radically wrong when we turn over the bushiness of farming to a new element that knows nothing of what has gone on before in the community."

"No community is attractive unless it is prosperous. It cannot be made prosperous by sitting on a rail fence and whistling for prosperity. A rural pastor can make his community the most attractive in his flock, and the more will religion prosper."

This rural pastor believes that every rural church should have a meeting hall or community center. He holds that educational efforts will have to be resorted to in order to develop rural community life to its fullest capacity.

"So far as I am concerned, to the farmers or they will sell out," is his philosophy. He maintains that when parents in rural communities encourage their children to go to the city they are putting them into difficulties that these youths would not otherwise have.

Before taking up his Watertown parish, Father Mahoney was located in a country church in Washington county where he was instrumental in obtaining some of the first farmers' institutes held in that county.

Washington—Woodrow Wilson's health permitting—and he is getting better every day—will have a decisive influence in the selection of the democratic nominee for the presidency in 1924.

and his readiness to discuss public issues goes more in favor of a prominent democrat.

ELKHORN

Elkhorn—The program for observance of Armistice day at the high school was given Monday afternoon, the meeting being held on the campus of the school.

The local G. A. R. post disbanded and the seventh and eighth grade pupils were present. Three girls from Miss Taylor's English class presented "The Spirit of Old Glory." Marjorie Desing, dressed as Liberty, recited the tribute and Letitia Myers and Margaret Lamont assisted in carrying out the red, white and blue emblems. Miss members of the service corps, blind piano players, several of the school girls, Dr. J. W. Bolin, blind specialist, Chicago, told the students in a very cheerful talk about the advantages offered blind boys and girls today and explained some of the advance methods in teaching them. Dr. Bolin proves his statement that he is particularly interested in boys and girls and he has seen things that he does not see and sees other things that others do not hear.

At the close of the program, the other leaders gave an exhibition and the closing football game was "walked over" by members on the side lines and by a few of the players. All agreed that Janesville gave them courteous treatment and showed no tendency to take away the credit from Elkhorn winning a hard fought game.

His Last Appearance.

Cheering there was—and no one can doubt its sincerity—but it was not the fanatical outburst of a political or campaign crowd. The response of the crowd that was too awestruck to respond to cheer conduced to the moment the feelings.

Frank Schimke, driving around the northeast corner of the park, collided with another car Monday. If blue Monday it was a very dismal day and Mr. Schimke's car suffered a broken wheel, mashed fender and few minor injuries.

L. R. Whitmore Buried.

The body of Jerry R. Whitmore, who died suddenly at his son's home at Watertown, Friday, Nov. 10, was brought to Elkhorn Monday. The funeral was held Tuesday at 1 p. m. in the First Methodist church officia. Rev. T. E. Whitmore, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Whitmore went south a few weeks ago and her health would not permit her return for the burial of her husband, but the son Jerry, who lives at Lakeland, Fla., was in attendance, as was the older son, Harry and family of Watertown. The aged mother, Mrs. Joseph Whitmore and brother, Dr. Joseph Whitmore, Springfield, Ill., and another brother, Robert, East Troy, were present with many old friends and neighbors. The pallbearers were George Poller, Fred Dike, Frank and George Cain, Emil Rhodes and Henry Harmon.

There were in the crowd were prominent democrats, men influential in the councils of the party—Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee, was there, and a few members of the senate and house.

The effect upon them was electric. Stimulated by the results of last night's election, most of them, for that day, had a rallying point once more in the man who led the party for nearly 12 years. His audience forgot he was an old fool and made them think of the doctrines he was again championing.

The same characteristic or phasis of racial expression, the same easy movement of the speaker's eyes from one end of the crowd to the other, the same smiling quips as he asked permission to put on his hat with an air that if he did so, he wouldn't "speak through it," which was convincing evidence to the crowd that Woodrow Wilson was coming back in health.

Wilson, though, was almost himself again.

The value of a leader with the prestige and influence of Mr. Wilson may not be considered important from the republican viewpoint, but when one considers the state of disorganization of the democratic party from coast to coast and the need for harmony and a revival of party activity, the return of Mr. Wilson to more or less active council is tremendously significant. NO POSTMASTER NAMED.

Contradicting reports that a prominent Evansville man had been appointed.

The final time for the examination is Nov. 21.

Supt. M. O. Holt reported for the various departments of the various plants. Plastering Dec. 1.

J. P. Cullen said that all plasterers would be through by December 1, which surprised even those of the board who had been informed that most work on installing the locators started Tuesday, and the only delay is in the marble.

Two of the three carloads have been received, but since the marble is to be placed first, no work is being held up.

Mr. Cullen reported that varnishing was being held up because of the dust made by the terrazzo layers and that when the terrazzo work is done, the varnishing can be done.

The location of the flag-pole, after considerable discussion, was left to the president of the board, Mr. Earle, to decide with the architect, Mr. Cullen. It will probably be on the corner of Racine and Main, halfway between the street and the building.

On suggestion of Mr. Earle, the board, at its meeting, voted to petition the city council to petition to make the lighting system on South Main, which that body is now considering ornamental.

"The lights have been planned $50 for a apartment if neither ornamental nor a lighting system," said Mrs. Holmes.

It was moved to make arrangements to take off the land to the north of the building so that it will settle before next spring, when grading will be done.

The Black Menace

A CRAIG KENNEDY STORY

By ARTHUR E. REEVES.

The story of the Black Menace has to do with the fortunes of Clare Clemon, ward of a respectable old man, who, like his wife, has lost all his fortune having been dissipated. There is enough evidence left behind to show that he was the victim of his own greed. Another is a detective who tries to unravel the case and later appeals to Craig Kennedy, the chemist-detective. The story is told by a companion and friend of Kennedy's. It is to follow the Black Menace with its responsibility for the series of blackmailing crimes stirring New York. Ripley Grubbs, one of the victims, is killed. Another is the police chief, who is also killed. The center of the operations seems to be a country house on Long Island, where Celia Breshkaya, a beautiful and mysterious Russian woman, is commandant. She is married and holds a prisoner in New Jersey. She is engaged to be married to Jack Speed, a young newspaper reporter.

It was only a few minutes later that Clare and Speed arrived in his car and hurried up to him. "Oh," exclaimed Clare, catching sight of Ravenal, "have you and Professor Kennedy really found out something?"

Ravenal smiled, then shook his head. "You will have to ask Professor Kennedy," he replied.

Clare turned to Speed. "But his intentness on what he was doing seemed to forbid interruption even from me."

Speed moved over to me, with a sidewise glance at Jacques and Rene. "How did he capture them?" he whispered.

"The police located the gray cruiser, on Kennedy's tip, out at Southwark," I replied.

Speed nodded with satisfaction, but saw that I was trying to discourage conversation and asked "no more."

In the living room, on a table, Kennedy was now busy setting out the scroll of ruled paper and its clockwork arrangement. That having been done, he connected the various tubes from the black cylinders in such a way that the recording pen just barely touched on the scroll.

Finally he carried one of the tubes from the table, now placed near the door, into the boudoir.

The doctor was about to make some objection to disturbing his patient, but Kennedy's manner was such that, in the presence of the officers, he contented himself merely with a frown of protest. As for Breshkaya, she was still too weak to protest very strongly, and in fact I do not think she had more than a vague idea of what Kennedy's wizardry of science might accomplish.

He said something to her in low tone, which I suppose was to cover what he was preparing, and still speaking, attached the band about her neck and another about her waist, then bringing the little cylinder situated between the two, close to the middle of her chest.

Back in the living room, I watched him curiously, as again, he attached similar arrangements on the chest of Rene and Jacques. I moved over quietly near them, lest they might protest, being careful to place myself so that at the slightest movement they could catch them.

"Now, Speed," he hustled, turning to Jack. "I want you to have one of those things on—and you, too, Miss Claremont." He added, "I'm sorry, but we'll have to check up what I call the 'personal equipment' Mr. Ravenal—and you, too, Walter—the more we have the better average I shall get."

Finishing attaching things, Kennedy moved over to table and bent over the clockwork arrangement which he released, carefully adjusting the self-linking pen, as he spoke, half to the instrument; it seemed, but really to us.

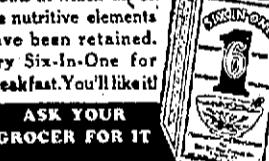

"I think," he remarked, "that it will be unnecessary for me to recount to you the more recent exploits of the Black Menace, who apparently has captured Jack Speed. However, a fair day of discovery seem to indicate that there is no measure too desperate for this Black Menace in self defense to adopt."

"Then," he continued, "there was the suicide of Mrs. Oakleigh. In the light of what we have discovered, it seems to have been comprehensible enough. She had become so deeply involved with the gang of black-mailers that to her the only way out seemed to be death and she chose it in preference to playing a game that made her a criminal pawn in the hands of another."

Kennedy paused and turned slowly to the beautiful woman who lay lightly across the room. As he resumed with keen analysis, he looked over what we had observed for the last few weeks of the life that Breshkaya was leading, going back from the last time we had seen her double-crossing Speed to the first time we had encountered her in the private dining room after the kidnapping of Clare.

"Life," he concluded, "was a woman whose heart had, it seems literally been turned into stone. She had become veritable Gorgon-Medusa-like in her hatred of men and women, doing the bidding of some higher director, but doing it apparently with some sadistic pleasure in the life. Anywhere, we see, she had left a record of wrecked lives, blighted hopes, death."

Soften Your Clothes As The Weavers Do

Correct Method Already Adopted

By Thousands of Women

BY DOROTHY VERNON

Not fabric manufacturers wash their new materials before they weave them. But of course, they do not use the ordinary white or yellow laundry soap because it contains so much water-glass and other alkalies which rub into the fibers and rot them.

The experts use olive oil soap. For example, no other cleaner is equal to olive oil for loosening dirt, softening soiled clothes and preparing them for the wash.

"What place in the laundry doesn't make a laundry soap containing olive oil?" frequently remarked to a fabric maker.

"There is one," he said, "large green bar called GREEN ARROW, manufactured by the Poland Co. It is all right, sir," he said, "but it costs a few dollars per washing because it is all soap and naturally costs much further than soap. It is only pre-soaked with olive oil, which is good, but it costs nothing counts on wash-day except soap."

Washed with pure GREEN ARROW soap, combining olive oil and naptha, your clothes will retain that freshness and softness which is so important. It does not redder or burn the hands. Two or three trials will convince you that it is folly to keep on using ordinary laundry soap, in fact, lukewarm water does quite the same.

I would recommend GREEN ARROW for your dishes and wood-work too. In the first place it never makes hands red or burns the hands. It does not need hot water so often when washing, when doing my dishes with GREEN ARROW soap, in fact, lukewarm water does quite the same.

Get pure GREEN ARROW Laundry Soap from your grocer; see what science has done for the family wash.

Reader—

Gray eyes, olive skin, dark hair and lashes sound like a delightful combination. With such coloring, you can wear almost any shade. Browns and grays will probably be most becoming since they will bring out the eyes and hair. Your colors, should be mostly those of a briony-yellow, reds, gold, brown and such shades.

Seven Blues Make Final Gridiron Appearance Saturday

J. YOUNG TOO OLD; GRADUATION WILL TAKE 6 REGULARS

Seven regulars of the Janesville high school football team will make their last appearance for their institution when they play against Beloit at the Cutaway city next Saturday. Graduation takes six of them.

John Young, the stalwart fullback and defensive tackle of the local preps, will not be seen in a Bowery city uniform next year. Young will be too old for the age limit in Wisconsin, so working to keep him on the team in 1923. What Young will do is somewhat uncertain. There is a chance he may go to Illinois and apply for a post on some high school in the Sucker state where the age limit is 18 years.

These Who Graduate
The other men are Leslie Dickinson, halfback and sometimes quarterback; Ray Lyle, quarterback and halfback; Willard Baker, end; Clifford County, captain and center; Alfred Meek, end; and Lloyd Seaman, tackle.

"We will have a good nucleus, however, for next year," said Head Coach V. E. Klonz.

Wrangle Over H.S. Gridiron Title Starts

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

Marinette LaCrosse and Superior high schools are engaging in a hot argument over the football championship of Wisconsin, according to Associated Press dispatches Tuesday.

Marinette stated Tuesday that LaCrosse and Superior "will be ordered" to play a game to settle the honors of the Western division of the state, if no winner can be found, with a administration that Marinette is "assuming a cowardly role and misrepresents facts." Coach Keegan of LaCrosse declared Marinette's statement was "false."

When asked for a statement on the situation Tuesday morning Fred J. Holt, Edgerton, state secretary of the state board of control and now its chairman, said this to say:

"While it was suggested at the football Milwaukee meeting of the Wisconsin Interscholastic association held last Thursday that Superior and LaCrosse would be doing well to play a game to settle matters in the western district of the state, no action was taken on the matter. The state has no state high school champion this year."

Marinette's stand is contrary to the fact that at the meeting of the board last week, it was decided not to hold any elimination grid meet this year or to recognize any school as the state football champion.

In the Associated Press' report, Coach Fred Carson of Superior says his school is willing to play LaCrosse and reprimands Marinette for booking a game out of the state with Scott high of Toledo, O. Coach Keegan of LaCrosse, according to the same source, says his school has no right to claim the state championship until the regular schedules are completed.

Marinette has booked a game with West Allis for Nov. 25 under the title of a "state championship game."

Blue Basket Practice Next Week; Book Racine

Janesville high school will again practice on the basketball court, it is announced by V. E. Klonz, head coach. The Blue quintet will journey to the Dale city, Jan. 26. Last year, the Lower city pulled a great surprise by knocking off Racine.

The balance of the schedule will probably be ready for publication within a week or so.

Work on the project will be started as soon as the required public subscriptions are assured. It is expected to be ready for use by 1923.

R. F. B. BASKETERS PRACTICE TUESDAY

First practice of the season will be held by the R. F. B. basketball team at the armory Tuesday night. The sound has openings for fast amateurs.

Some of the candidates may be given a respite from basketball workouts in order to let them train for the Y. M. C. A. cross-country run to be held Thanksgiving day.
